

Saginaw Area Concert Band

Saginaw, Michigan – Philip Bossenberger, Conductor

2:30 p.m.

Program

A Little Concert Suite
Movement I: Intrada	Alfred Reed
The Black Horse Troop	John Philip Sousa
On a Hymnsong of Lowell Mason	David R. Holsinger
Star Dust	Words by Mitchell Parish Music by Hoagy Carmichael arr. Warren Baker
Jupiter: The Bringer of Jollity	Gustav Holst arr. James Curnow
Curtain Call	John Wasson

History

The Saginaw Area Concert Band is celebrating its 40th anniversary this year! Founded and directed by James Nyquist in 1983, it is now under the baton of its fifth conductor, Philip Bossenberger, since 2019.

The Saginaw Area Concert Band is the most active community band in mid-Michigan, performing 15-20 free concerts each year. Its mission is to offer performance opportunities for amateur musicians and take those performances into the community, focusing on those who cannot attend concerts at traditional 'musical' venues, as well as providing fundraising events for local non-profit organizations.

The band's current personnel of approximately 50 musicians come from throughout mid-Michigan. A unique aspect of the group is the development of cross-generational friendships. There is only one criterion for membership: the willingness to share your instrumental talents. SACB believes that music is a gift and does not charge membership fees or admission to our concerts. Donations are our sole source of revenue.

Web Page

www.saginawareaconcertband.org

Social Media

Facebook: Saginaw Area Concert Band